While initiatives like the Safe Schools Coalition have the backing of the government, psychologists and gay groups, not everyone agrees with the concept of going to bequeath everything to a dog or an art museum or something, and send all their money to AMF.